

13th Annual Flo's Garden Party

You are cordially invited to join Flo at her Garden Party benefitting
ACTION OHIO Coalition For Battered Women & Children

Saturday, July 25, 2015 2-5 p.m.

Spring Hill Farm 4235 Morse Road Alexandria, OH 43001

Co-Sponsored by the Granville Kiwanis

Admission $25 per-person

614.825.0551 or www.actionohio.org for more info, questions, & tickets

Spend the afternoon

~Strolling the lush gardens of Flo & Frank Gibson

~Enjoying Artiflora Designer Evelyn Froking demonstrate her artistry with flowers.

The results of her work will be raffled off to several lucky guests~You could be one!

~Listening to Guest Speaker from the Licking County Prosecutor's Office

Learn how the Licking County's Prosecutor's Office helps victims and their children.

~Hearing the music of the Garden Party Band.

~All while delighting in an ice cream treat.

~Participating will make a difference, it may save a victim's life. Won't you join us?

We invite you to become a Garden Party Sponsor.

Proceeds from the party benefit ACTION OHIO Coalition For Battered Women, a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization – your donation is tax deductible.

 Current Ohio law doesn't recognize "choking" (or non-fatal strangulation) as a felony, and yet even when homicide does not result, it can have a lasting adverse impact. ACTION is working with others to educate law makers about its lethality. If "choking" is recognized for what it is – abusers may face higher penalties and more victims will avoid becoming homicide statistics.

A victim writes: "He told me several times after he strangled me that he wasn't trying to kill me, that he was just trying to show me that he had the power to kill me. Domestic violence laws have changed, but not enough."