

The University of Hawai'i is conducting a study:

Examining Healing Trajectories for Survivors of Rape and Sexual Assault

Are you a survivor of sexual assault and/or rape?

Would you like to share your experience in healing to help improve services for survivors?

If the answer is YES . . .

You are invited to participate in a research study.

The purpose of this study is to learn more about the process of healing after sexual violence. The information gained from the project will help to improve services for survivors. Participation includes:

- An anonymous 30-minute online survey about your healing process and experiences using different types of therapies.
- An optional follow-up phone interview about your healing process and therapy usage.

To find out more about the survey and participate, please visit:

<https://bit.ly/2PWztWd>

Or go directly to the survey with the QR code and your phone's camera:

If you have any questions, please contact Christine Weingarten, the primary investigator, at cweinga@hawaii.edu or 779.429.2561
Christine Weingarten is a graduate student in Psychology at University of Hawai'i at Mānoa.